Harris County Deeply Stirred by Discovery of the Bodies of Epps and Max Melton and Johnny Leake in Chattahoochee River.

FATHER OF MELTONS ALLEGES SONS KILLED AS RESULT OF A PLOT

Murder Story of Bitter Feud of Long Standing, Declares Attorney Walter McKinney—Father Is Sure Boys Put Up a Desperate Fight.

By BRITT CRAIG, Special Staff Correspondent. West Point, Ga., July 2.—(Special.)—The details of a midnight auto ride through the country, upon which the father of the slain brothers, Epps and Max Melton, was urged in vain to go, will be unfolded before the coroner's jury in the continuance of the inquest into the triple tragedy which took place when the bodies were taken from the muddy waters of the Chattahoochee.

LONG AUTO RIDE

The inquest was abruptly discontinued tonight when it was learned that the slain men had been on the automobile trip. It is understood that Land and the Hargetts are willing to testify to every incident of the trip. They deny any knowledge of the murders.

"Further than learning the action of the victims on the night it is believed they were murdered—Sunday—we expect to find clues which will make a plot to slay the Melton brothers as the result of a bitter feud of long standing. We have evidence already that such theories existed."

FEUD CHARGED

Land lived within a radius of a mile of the plantation of Alexander Teal, a victim in the triple tragedy, for which Melton was acquitted on a plea of self-defense. This slaying, itself, is said to have culminated from a feud between the Teal and Melton families. A hand-to-hand encounter between Teal and Epps Melton, the midnight destruction of the Melton brothers' clunk house of stout rock. Dangling from the body of Max Melton, whose body was discovered this morning, was a stout rock that had weighed it beneath the surface and would have prevented recovery had it not floated into shallow water.

Head of Board Asserts That Detectives Fail to Notify Citizens of Progress in Case of Thefts.

Captain James W. English and Police Chief John L. Beavers clashed in a heated word combat last night at the meeting of the police board on the question of vice having been "promiscuously scattered" over the city of Atlanta since Chief Beavers closed the red light district in September, 1912.

As a Preliminary but Commissioner-Pain and Chief of Detectives

The issues between the police commission and the police and detective officials arose in such instances as the case of the late night of the probe-report of the special investigating committee, which was adopted for the case of the late night of the probe-report, which is as follows:

Veroy Objects.

This paragraph brought Commissioner Veroy, a friend of the police chief, to his feet with a motion that the word promiscuously be stricken, declaring that the police board to place it on record admitting that vice did exist in the city to such an extent.

Altered Disorderly Houses.

Communications regarding threatened law houses, and to be operated in respectable neighborhoods of the city, were then turned over to the board.

Heavy caliber and by the employment of machine guns. The enemy was stopped, thanks to the soldiers of our army, and the machine guns were immediately driven back by counter-attacks of our infantry, which were completely repulsed.

On July 1, the night passed quietly in the north, in the vicinity of Aras, and as far as Champagne, says today's official statement.

The German attack in the Argonne reported yesterday, was particularly violent. It is estimated that the forces engaged amounted to two divisions. The attack, however, was checked. Two fresh movements against our trenches at the east of the Benaville road were repulsed.

"On the night of the German attack in the vicinity of Metz, the Germans suffered important losses."

GERMANS CONTINUE TO PRESS RUSSIAN.

Berlin, July 1.—(Via London).—The following official statement was issued today:

"Western theater: North of Aras fighting around the trenches, under continuous artillery fire, is proceeding favorably for us. In the Champagne district, east of Rheims, the French attacked without success.

"On the heights of the Meuse and in the Vosges there were only very slight artillery duels.

"Enemy airmen dropped bombs on Zebrugges and Bruges (in Belgium), without doing any damage of a military character.

"Eastern theater: Our positions here are unchanged. The booty taken during June amounts to two flags and 25,000 prisoners, of whom 10 were officers and 15,000 were machine gunners, fifty-two machine guns and one aeroplan, besides much material of war."

Southeastern theater:

After bitter fighting the troops under General von Linsingen stormed the Russian positions east of the Dnieper river near Zhitomir, and to the north of Rokhatis. Russian officers and 2,500 men were captured.

East of Lemberg the Austro-Hungarian troops have pressed forward to the enemy positions. The army under Field Marshal von Mackensen is continuing to press forward between the Dnieper and the Dniester, advancing on both sides of the Karpatian mountains.

"The total amount of captures during the month of June, including allied troops under General von Mackensen, Field Marshal von Mackensen and General von Linsingen, amounts to 400 officers and 10,000 men and 80 cannons and 24 machine guns."

DRAFT OF GERMAN REPLY IS IN HANDS OF KAISER

Public Opinion Is Being Exploited by Those Who Oppose Concessions.

Berlin, July 1.—(Via London).—The German reply to the American note on submarine warfare is in the hands of the Kaiser. The emperor's decision is expected in time for the note to be presented to American Ambassador Gerard probably July 5 or 6.

MARKETS NOW SOUGHT FOR GEORGIA PRODUCTS

State Chamber of Commerce Working Hard to Boost Diversified Crop Campaign.

The Georgia Chamber of Commerce is making an aggressive campaign to stir the buying forces of the state of Georgia to a realization of the vital necessity for everyone to bend all efforts to the production of diversified crops for the diversified crops produced by the farmers of Georgia this year.

A letter is being sent every bank in the state, and to prominent business houses all over the state, in which President C. J. Hudson urges that they take immediate steps to ascertain what crops other than cotton, the farmers all over the country will have for sale this year, and to make preparations to handle same, even if it becomes necessary to provide storage facilities for the crops until proper markets can be found for same.

Accompanying this letter is a bulletin giving the names of 108 firms in the state, which have agreed to purchase Georgia products, thus insuring a market for the diversified crops. The bulletin also contains a list of the names of the firms which have agreed to purchase Georgia products, thus insuring a market for the diversified crops.

Woman's Health Requires Care

Women are so constituted as to be peculiarly susceptible to contamination, and their general health depends in large measure on the condition of their reproductive organs. The regulation and correction of this tendency, their delicate organisms rebel at the violence of cathartic and purgative remedies, which, while they may afford temporary relief, shock the system and seriously disturb the functional organs. A mild laxative is far preferable and, if properly compounded, much more effective. The combination of simple laxative herbs with peppermint in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is ideal for women's use. A few trial bottles can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 112 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

STATE WARDENS WILL MEET HERE JULY 13

That they may get a better grasp of the problems facing the working of the state capital, July 13 and 14. This is the first meeting of its kind ever held in Georgia and those who are in charge anticipate that the convict system and the wardens will also take place. It is also pointed out that much Reorganization of the socialist party in Georgia will be considered at a convention of its members at the socialist headquarters in the Jackson building Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Annual election of officers will also take place.

his appreciation of The Constitution's
work for the public schools, writes:

Editor Constitution: I wish to express to you my heartiest appreciation of the very complimentary editorial about me.

In that editorial you outlined very clearly and forcibly the great responsibility resting upon the head of the schools during the next year. I shall endeavor to

NOT LIKE ATLANTA!

A week or so ago, upon the recommendation of then acting superintendent of the Atlanta public schools, Mrs. Annie T. Wise was re-elected principal of the Girls' Commercial High school—a position which she has filled with marked distinction ever since the creation of the school for which she was primarily responsible.

Since then the Boys' and the Girls' Commercial High schools—the former having been an adjunct of the regular Boys' High school—have been consolidated, the 200 boys being merged with the more than 500 girls
of the new combined school.

The teachers' committee of the board of education meets today, and there has been some suggestion that because the Boys' and the Girls' High school branches of this department have been consolidated it may be found necessary to put a man at the head of the combined institution.

To do this would require affirmative action dispossessing Mrs. Wise, already chosen as principal of the school with which the boys' branch has been merged, and for which position she was warmly recommended by Superintendent Landrum when unanimously
re-elected by the board.

To dispossess a woman whose superiority
in this line of work is everywhere conceded, could be defended solely on the argument of woman's incompetence. Such action would place the board of education in an attitude of doubting the ability and the competence of a woman for the very position to which they elected her only a few days ago.

The only possible ground on which it is even suggested that a man be substituted is that 200 boys are to become a part of the student body composed of more than 500 girls—and we have too much confidence in the board of education to believe that it will for an instant commit itself to any such absurdity.

The board has taken too many steps in the direction of rehabilitating our public school system to now commit itself to a blunder which, while mocking justice, would gravely offend all womanhood.

Even those who still question the ability of women to lead in certain of the professions and business avocations cannot doubt that they have always been leaders in the profession of education. Even in the so-called Dark Ages, in the medieval period,
they demonstrated their efficiency as educators, achieving then high degrees for their learning, as doctors of philosophy and of literature. When Shakespeare wrote the "Merchant of Venice" he settled the question of woman's qualifications for the law.

Woman as the educator has always had her place.

Georgia established the first woman's college in the United States to equip women with that higher knowledge which has made many of them teachers of renown.

Over twenty years ago Atlanta went on record as holding no longer to the tradition of sex governing superior qualities in teachers, when men were no longer required as principals of the grammar schools, and efficient women were elected to those places.

Now, for Atlanta to countenance the suggestion that because a teacher is a woman
she must not hope to rise with her abilities into a place logically hers, and to actually dispossess a principal because she is a woman, would be to argue the city almost unconscious of what is going on around her.

THE CRY FOR PEACE.

It is no longer a "still, small voice" that pleads for peace in Europe, a voice heard but faintly at first in the midst of war-enthusiasm. It is now the heart-cry of the suffering people who are losing all that makes life worth living in this war of nations.

Peace talk, at first an unrecurrent,
secretly indulged in, now rises to the surface and is heard in the storm; for, do what they will to subdue it, being the voice of the people, demands it to be heard. It seems to be one result of the hopelessness of a war in which all are losers. Here is a picture of the misery which makes this cry for peace loud and persistent. The Providence Journal says:

From tens of thousands of homes in that land of England whose beauty is like a benediction, from once happy France, from every corner of Germany
where, a brief year ago, all her people lived in peace and contentment, from the vast expanses of Russia, with her simple, hard-working peasantry, rises
the cry of despair. It is the wail of misery from the wives and mothers and sisters, mourning for lives torn out of the joyous path of youth to rot like carion under the open sky.

That is the human cry which is heard in the furthest from the heart of it is not silenced. It has reached the warring, and
it is enough to make even war grow weary
of its work. And with reference to influences working for peace in Germany and England, The Pittsburg Dispatch says:

With the large body of German opinion in the furthest from the heart of it is not silenced. It has reached the warring, and
it is enough to make even war grow weary
of its work. And with reference to in-

JUST FROM GEORGIA

By Paul L. Stanton
A Billville Love Song.

Reckon that I'll ask the Lightnin':
"If you have the time to spare,
Rip a rainbow into ribbons
To tie my honey's
hair.
Then I'll take his pink and purple
For a dress for her to wear."

Reckon that I'll ask the Mornin':
"At the earliest beam of light:
"Flash me down some silver trimmin'
From your storehouse, heaven-bright!"
Then the gold, to give it glory—
"Flash me down some of that Night!"
Then the moon, to give it light!

Impossible Paragraphs.
The Fireworks Trust is in favor of a sane Fourth.

During the hot spell the price of ice will be cut to please the poor.

For every dish that states away
to spend his vacation at Hard Labor Station.

Though he ranks with the most eloquent orators, he declined the honor of making a Fourth of July address.

Your representative is absent-minded in the matter of his own welfare. He always forgets to draw his per diem.

He hoped for the best—
Was prepared to receive
it:
He got to the worst,
And he wouldn't believe it!

Heard on the Highway.
Joy a-smilin' to the day
An brighter days in sight:
For every dish that states away
A bigger one 'll bite;
The battle may be long, but still
The true man wins the fight.

No matter how the storm may strike,
The Flower of Hope—will weave it
For every dish that states away
That's worthy to receive it.
There's great gold where the rainbow ends
For him who knows the way.

Some Consolation, Anyway.
This, from The Nation News philosopher,
has consolation in it:
"When we stop and think that if it hadn't been for Eve we were living right now in the Garden of Eden, we feel sorer and sorer. But then, when the strawberry shortcake season is in full blast and the beautiful young spring showers are ripe and watermelons and peaches are on the wing, we are at that, kinder satisfied with our lot."

Isn't It Enough?
A correspondent asks for the authorship
of this olden rhyme, and wants to know
if there's any more to it:
"It's a pretty good world that we live in,
For to lend, or to spend, or to give in,
But to beg or borrow or get a man's own
'Tis the 3rd-best world that ever was known."

The Pleasy Project.
"Speaking of the 'horn of plenty,'" says
The Albany Herald, "it may be remarked in passing that it is nowhere in Georgia that will put the corn in cornucopia this year."

Making Up the Record.
Handing compliments to a representative,
The Adams Enterprise says: "He never made a motion to adjourn when he thought there was no use in it."

The Old Weather.
Satan said he'd run the weather,
And he did his level best,
Fired up the eastern winds,
Then set fire to the west.
When we thought the fire would fix him—
That he reckoned all amiss.
Then he said, all wrapped in lightning:
"I'm just cooling off in this!"

Slave of the Wheel.
Button Factory correspondence of The Monroe (Ark.) Sun:
"While the beautiful days of spring pass
quickly into the heat of July's coming,
the smiling face of mother earth and wish we were a goat or something else just as good."

Well If They Can't.
Another war-worried brother sings:
"The quick outnumbered by the dead,
Life wanes, however we prize it.
War paints the world so bloody-red,
Can angels recognize it?"

Sermon by the Wayside.
Some folks sit up in de nightfairs for four judgment day 'n ketin' 'im sleepin',
an' all de time it's right dar with Conscience,
in a dark corner er doom.

There Is Hope.
Gloomy foreboding of Uncle Judd Lewis,
of The Houston Post:
"The slaughter of the ocean
Often times has made us mean;
The birth of the world's coming
Often times has made us keen.
When we'll have some of our own."

Distinguished Vacationists.
"In my travels I met three congressmen," writes a Billville correspondent. "They were arrested in the country and a dole of nothing in particular."

A Weather Note.
"The man who worries about the weather contributes little."
This lesson from the weather learn—
No theme it is for laughter:
If you to cinders you should burn
You'd feel the fire breaker."

He Answered the "Ad."
Recently The Times-Enterprise
published a man with a $50 bill. Being widely advertised, the man had the bill changed and The Times-Enterprise said
the paid 50 cents on the hand."

Heard on the Highway.
It's trouble now on every hand,
The meek would own each other's hand
And eat each other up."

Give Him Information.
The Nation News man asks for information on these points:
"If a man goes up in an aeroplane just for a good time, would you call it skydiving?"
"Have you run across one of those men yet who would have been rich by now but for the war?"
"What has become of the old-fashioned woman who used a hair brush when she spanked her children?"

BILLS FOR THE CONGRESS

FEDERAL AIDS

Improvements Sought in Measures Proposed by Andrews, of Fulton, and by Elders, of Tattnell.

With the introduction of a bill Thursday by Representative Andrews, of Fulton, and by Representative Elders, of Tattnell, the house now has two measures looking to the construction of better roads in Georgia.

The first highway bill was introduced in the house last Friday by Mr. Andrews, of Fulton.

While the two bills have for their object the building of better roads, they differ in many particulars. The bill introduced by Mr. Andrews, of Fulton, provides for the construction of a system of highways, which shall be maintained by the state and the counties.

Representative Elders' Bill.

Mr. Elders, provides for a state superintendent of roads, who shall be appointed by the governor for a term of two years. The superintendent is to be in charge of the construction of roads and the building of bridges.

Governor Going to Rome.

Governor Nat E. Harris has accepted the invitation of the city of Rome to pay it a visit on Monday, July 5, and deliver an address on the occasion.

First Law Passed.

The first law passed by the present general assembly was signed last night by Governor Harris on Thursday. The law is a bill to amend the constitution of the state.

Pension Provision.

With the passage of the pension law, as they have in years past, the governor has signed the law.

Raoul Makes Statement.

Mr. Raoul this afternoon gave out the following statement: "After consultation with my attorneys I am willing to accept the charges against me in the case of the Atlanta Independents, but I am not willing to accept the charges against me in the case of the Atlanta Independents."

Raoul's Statement.

"I believe that the entire case can and should be settled outside of the courts and, in every effort to reach that end, I am willing to accept the charges against me in the case of the Atlanta Independents, but I am not willing to accept the charges against me in the case of the Atlanta Independents."

CAPITOL GOSSIP

The Automobile Tax Law.

Whatever may be the outcome of the decision of the Georgia Supreme Court, in holding the Georgia automobile tax unconstitutional, it is certain that the present session of the general assembly will not pass a law to replace the provisions for gathering funds for its maintenance. It is probable that the state will have to rely on the county and place the burden of the tax on the county.

The Protest to Britain.

Great Britain will hardly declare war upon the United States because of the Georgia automobile tax. The Georgia automobile tax is a very small tax, and it is not likely that it will cause any serious trouble between the two countries.

Audience for Scribbles.

Governor Nat E. Harris on Thursday afternoon received a large number of visitors at the capitol. The visitors were mostly from the city of Atlanta, and they were interested in the work of the governor.

Atkinson County Proposed.

The bill providing for the creation of the proposed new county of Atkinson, named in honor of ex-governor William H. Atkinson, was introduced in the house by Representative Williams, of Fulton.

SLATON SITS ON BENCH DURING THAW HEARING

Evelyn Thaw Decides to Obey Subpoena to Testify for the State.

New York, July 1.—Although word was received here today from Malone, N. Y., that Evelyn Thaw had announced that she would decline to testify for the state, she has decided to obey the subpoena and testify for the state.
